

REFLECTIONS FOR THIS SUNDAY

“5TH SUNDAY OF LENT”

FIRST READING:- A reading from the Book of Ezekiel (37:12-14)

The Israelites's exile to Babylon is described in terms of death -living in slavery in a foreign land was not life. And their return home is described in terms of resurrection and spiritual renewal.

RESPONSE :- With the Lord there is mercy and fullness of redemption.

SECOND READING: -A reading from the letter of St. Paul to the Romans(8:8-11)

St. Paul tells his Christian converts that it was the Spirit who raised Jesus from the dead. And the Christian, who has the Spirit of God dwelling in him, will also be raised from the dead by the same Spirit.

GOSPEL :- A reading from the Holy Gospel according to St. John (11:1-45)

St. John relates the raising of Lazarus. By raising Lazarus from the dead, Jesus shows that he is the Lord of life and death.

REFLECTION:

Last Sunday's gospel reading was about light and darkness; today's is about life and death.

It was dangerous for Jesus to go to Judea again; the authorities were determined to seize him. When he decided nevertheless to go there, Thomas said, "Let us also go, that we may die with him." So Jesus faced death to give life to Lazarus. This is John showing us the meaning of Jesus's life, or applying the first brush-stroke in this scene.

An alternative is not a paradox. Life or death is not yet paradox; the paradox is life in death. And that is what we are going to see in this scene. To make it quite clear that we are not dealing with the first but with the second, Lazarus has been mistakenly dead for four days.

We spend our life trying to avoid even the thought of death. When we do think about it we think thoughts like:

"it will defeat me utterly, it will destroy everything I tried to do." The 'enemy' then is not only out there; it is now the enemy within.

This is not the way a Christian thinks about death. The death of Christ shapes our consciousness of death. St Paul wrote that we are "baptized into his death". The word 'baptized' means 'plunged'. By baptism we have been buried with him into death. This is not running away from death and the thought of death. It seems more like running towards it. Why? Because "just as Christ was raised from the dead by the glory of the Father, so we too might walk in newness of life." The place of death is the place of resurrection. The resurrection is not an alternative to death; rather it is in death that resurrection is to be found. We are delivered from the crippling fear of death and of everything that reminds us of it. This frees us to live. Life in death. Lazarus is every disciple.
