REFLECTION:

“The work of God is carried out by men of God” is an oft repeated saying. But there is a whole process of discernment that a person needs to undertake before he enters into the service of God. The call can come directly from God as in the case of Old Testament prophets or from Jesus as in the apostles and Paul. The liturgy of the Word places before us the call of Samuel and Peter. These men are from humble origins but possessed extraordinary leadership quality for which they will always be remembered. Samuel was a miracle child because Hannah his mother was not able to conceive and barrenness was considered to be a curse which Hannah who was very devout could not accept. Hannah's solution to her problem was to pour her heart out in supplication to God, and promise that if she ever conceived and gave birth to a son she would give him back to the Lord. When Samuel was born she kept her promise. Peter and his brother Andrew were fishermen and at least Andrew was a disciple of John the baptist, and Andrew led his brother Peter to Jesus. In the case of Samuel and Peter there were others who helped them answering God's call. In times of need let us also whisper our aspirations and desires and rest assured that God hears our every whispering.
